In my travels in the W. J. S. New England, I have seen many of the graduates of Yassar. I have never yet found an idle one. Many are teachers, some are lecturers, some are studying medicine, and others are caring for the poor and the sick near their own homes. The pastors of churches acknowledge their aid. An influence for good has gone from Yassar College that will hasten the millennium ten thousand years.
