so we didn't spend any.

went down Lake to Porlezza 4.97 then took train to Menaggio ar 5.07 (?)

to Bellagio at 5.24.

the whole day was fascinating. The three lakes were all very different.

Locarno so green The trip between Locarno & Como was along a deep gorge -(best view on left side)- we saw another tiny Lake on the way. Fortunately we had a perfect day.

We stayed at Hotel Florence with a beautiful terrass[sic] on lake where we have breakfast - Our rooms are in the Villa

-up the hill across a dear little garden from the main hotel - Grace & I have a big double room with 3 windows - one on the front so we get a small view of the lake around the corner of the hotel. Below the windows is a trelliss[sic] of Jacquimol[?] Roses in bloom

1 hr trip each way

Sept 9 - In afternoon we went up on rack & pinion road to Mortarone - the track is very steep in places - once the power went off & we began to roll back it caught then lessened & we rolled some more but caught.

On the way up we saw the biggest bluest gentians ever seen!

The view from the top was superb - 6 lakes visible tho' the air was not clear. & such rows & rows of mountains to the west! We climbed to the top where there is a cross. Well worth the climb. Had tea at hotel. We were sorry we hadn't come in the morning & spent the day!

Sunday In the morning EH & I ate breakfast out on terrass wrote letters. Then sauntered up to Church as there was a festa The little church tower was all hung with Japanese lanterns. An old lady took us round to the sacristy to see the gifts to the madonna which had been brought in by the parish people.

Baskets full of bottles of wine wreathed with garlands. Great cakes with very fancy icings with just a little bunch of flowers in the middle & even a live wooly lamb? These were to be auctioned off in the piazza after the procession.

Then we went down to the Villa again & at 2.30 the processeion of the Nativity of the Virgin came down the hill. Priests & parishioners all led by a band with long straight feathers in their hats. men in coarse vestments of white with scarlet capes & white hoods children & women with lovely white net veils - all carrying candles - Banners then finally the little Virgin & Babe in their Baldichino. & behind 3 priest in wonderful embroidered vestments all so common & homely but lighted with a reverence that raised it above the ordinary level. After they left us a terrific shower came up & they must have all gotten soaked.

Monday. Sept 12.

Statues of Roma (?)

At 2.30 Mother Grace & Mrs Robinson joined us & we went on for tea at Ostia Marina.

Wed In the morning we went to the Rag Market on the Campo del Fiore

I bought a lovely mosaic on green malachite - the Pantheon.

In the afternoon we went to the Villa Medici on the Pinci. It is now the French Academy.

The garden is beautiful The back of the Villa is covered with bits of reliefs - some supposed to be copies or portions of the Ars Pacis.

Thurs In the morning had an Italian lesson.

In the afternoon went to tea with Mrs Van Buren met some people from the British Academy.

She had a beautiful apartment & is so charming herself.

Friday. spent the day with Sister at Frascati at the Woodruffs.

They have a villino in the grounds of the Villa Aldohand... and their garden looks out on the great grove of Ilix trees & olives with Rome in the distance. The lunch was delicious

After lunch we went for a long drive to Rocco di Papa - Albano, Giotto Ferrata etc.

at G. F. we visited an old church or monastery where there were interesting Frescos by Domenichino - one representing

S. healing a boy who had fits. The boy was wonderfully realistic. There was a museo with many fragments from a villa of Cicero near by.

Sat. In aft, rode out Appian Way on the new bus as far as Tomb of Cecilia Metella. Had tea at Litonas. Counted 48 cats in Foro Traiano.

Visited church of San Sebastiano where Christ is supposed to have met Paul fleeing from Rome where he stopped when Paul said "Domine, quo vadis his foot prints were left in the stone. Christ replied "to Rome to be crucified again. So Paul returned.

Sunday Oct 16 Musea Augusto in morning. S. Ambrosia convent. a new museum where a collection has been made of casts & photographs of things from all the Provinces - wonderfully interesting. On ground floor a boat with wolfs head, containing wine casks & men rowing.

Mon. S. Giovanni de Paolo to see the Christian House with frescoes under the church, where two brothers John & Paul suffered martyrdom. In the dining room a frieze of birds & vines One eating a lizard, one a mouse, one a bunch of grapes.

Wed Oct 19. Ida Grace & I went to Sta Pressede - old titular church of 5th cen. supposed built over house of Pressede, filia de Pudens Sorella di Pudentiana.

Rebuilt 9th cent by Paschal

Mosaics of apse & St. Zeno Chapel chief attractions

Square blue halo means the St was still living.

Mosaic art revived in 9th cent because of establishment of Holy Roman Empire & coronation of Charlemagne. 4 churches rebuilt. Sta Pressede, S. Maria Domenica, Sta Cecilia S. Marco.

Brownings. "The Bishop chooses his tomb" is here.

A 13th cent tomb of Cardinal Ancheria is very fine - bisantine mosaic border on front.

St. Pudentiana has a marvelously realistic mosaic in apse which was cut off in 16th century rebuilding.

Went down to house underneath - where St. Peter was supposed to have visited Pudens & his daughters.

Saw floor of house floor of 1st church (subterranean.)

small fresco in nave of 2nd church. Baptismal font that St. Peter is supposed to have used. In afternoon went to tea at Mr & Mrs Stevens at Academy. Villa Aurelia - wonderful view, beautiful house.

Thurs. No sightseeing. Studied in morning walked with EH in afternoon. Grace sick in bed with stomach.

Fri. Morning S. Maria Maggiore saw Septine Chapel & Pope Pius 5 whose flesh is supposed to be miraculously preserved. A St. Gerome by Ribera. A fresco by Guido Reni. Borghese chapel has portrait by S. Mark but it was covered.

... mosaics on apse & triumphal arch

In afternoon went to Chiesa dei Quatri Coronati: a very quaint old church with 2. courts. The second made when the church was reduced in size so the old pillars of the nave are embedded in the side walls.

The cloisters were lovely - white cowled nuns were making silver filigre[sic] flowers in the lovely flowergarden.

On one side a small room had remnants of a Theotokos Madonna in a niche and a queer painted wooden box apparently once some kind of an organ with a picture of St. Cecelia on the back.

The cosmati pavement of church was beautiful.

The 4 crowned Saints were killed because they refused to make statues for pagans

In a sort of Chapter house were wonderful frescoes of the life of St. Constantine when he had leprosy & was cured by a vision of St. Peter & Paul who told him to go to San Silvestro...He bestowed the temporal power on Pope Silvestro. We saw the grating through which the cloistered nuns pass out the key & two "loud speakers" where they listen to the service from their gallery in the convent. After that we drove around the Pasaggio Archaeologico & back of baths of Caracalla. Had tea at Rosatis & walked home.
