

Vassar College*

June 12, 1871.

Dear Mamma,

U there has been a week without your receiving one of my valuable epistles, the difficulty has been that John, "Uncle Sam's" mail carriers and not mine. I have never failed to write every week*

I think I have written you that I intend to go down to New York after Commencement exercises, Wednesday, and stay there a few days. Papa writes that the "cash box" is so low at present that he cannot come North and bring you all. U that is the case I think I had better remain quietly in Poquonock all summer.

This note is only to let you know that I am alive and flourishing.

There are three more days at study, and two of examinations, and of but study course we are so busy we think of nothing else^ After examinations I will write a long letter, so now good bye

lovingly

Julie
