

Nov. 10, 1907

Dear Family:--

I won't tell you much about the news this weekend as Jean can do it much more satisfactorily than I, but this is just to tell you I love you all a lot.

Words do not express how much I enjoyed having Jean; the only trouble is, she didn't stay half long enough.

Tonight we had the usual Sunday evening music before Chapel and then instead of regular Chapel-service, Dr. Hall finished up the talk on India that he started two weeks ago. It was simply fascinating, for he told of many of his own personal experiences.

I could have listened to him all night. [Well], I must stop. Only two weeks from Wednesday till I see you all. Hooray!!

... Ever Lovingly
Marjorie

Poughkeepsie

Nov 11

10 AM

1907

N.Y.

Dr. Alexander W. MacCoy

Mrs. William P. Logan

Overbrook Ave and 58th St

Philadelphia