My dear Natalie:

I was greatly interested to read the letters which you have sent me from your grandmother, Lillian Taylor. I am going to pass these on to Miss Raymond who will read them with great delight. I am sure, and then place them in the library with our alumnae collection. We are pleased to have letters of our alumnae of early days which give us the reactions of young people to college life at different periods of Vassar's existence.

With my cordial greetings, I am

Sincerely yours,
