

415 Raymond
March 11, '08
Dear Family:-

Typed transcription page 1

This can only be [scribble], for this is my "busy day". Your letters telling of the birds and Spring-like things at home made me envious. We are way behind you, although today does feel a lot like Spring but we still have some snow left from Friday's storm.

I had my second physical examination yesterday, and you needn't worry about my health; I have gained six pounds!! That makes me weigh 137 gym. weight. Heaven knows what I'll weigh if I keep on at that rate!

I went to dinner in Main last night with Sarah [Hicks]. [Helen] may remember meeting her -- she was the other roommate in Katherine Taylor's room when I took her in. I had a very nice time, of course, and after Chapel came Choir practice; it was nice, and we practiced one [pretty] anthem for Easter, beside the "Psalms" and some other nice ones.

The Miscellany elections have "took place," and Ruth Hanigan is Editor-in-Chief (Jean knows her) and Frances Cutler is of the Senior (!) Editors for next year, and Katherine Taylor is one of the Junior (!!) ones. Isn't that nice?

This week has been pretty stupid so far, so there's no more news.

I am past [panicking] crazy to see you. I'll write you about Mary C. just as soon as I find out myself! Her family [seems] undecided as to what they want her to do, and won't say. I'm sorry to put you [in] trouble about it.

Bye bye now -

Love to all

... Ever

Marjorie.

Open configuration options

Postmark: Poughkeepsie MAR 11 1908 NY

Dr. Alexander W. MacCoy
Mrs. William P. Logan
Overbrook Ave. and 58th St.
Philadelphia