

P.S. Excuse [unreadable]
But as for pens at Present they "[unreadable]"
1908

415 Once More
April 7,

Dear Family-

Typed transcription of page 1 of letter

All serene and comfortable - a nice journey to N.Y.
and Mildred and I escorted Anna Sellers across N.Y. (She is a Senior and has been plenty of times, of course, but she made us talk to her). Mary C. was at the table when I arrived downstairs, and Lillas has just come in and gone back to Main for a minute. I saw K. Taylor just a second on the walk and she seems well and flourishing -- no measles as yet. Everybody is buzzing at everybody else and admiring their new spring millinery. I had such a nice [vacation] and wish it could have lasted longer. I love you heaps.

As Ever

Marjorie

POUGHKEEPSIE

APR 1

11 AM

1908

N.Y.

Dr. Alexander W. MacCoy, et. al.
Overbrook Ave. and 58th St.
Philadelphia