

LILLIAN MARY CAMPBELL HOWSON

(Mrs. Howard Howson)

1891 - 1946

This is our moment to speak of one who was and is part of this company and to express our sense of loss in the death of Lillian Mary Campbell Howson. As a wife and mother, as a neighbor and as a member of this faculty she has shared deeply in the life of this community, and her influence will be felt for a long time to come. There was in her a genuine dignity and simplicity combined with youthfulness and enthusiasm. The affairs of the college and its welfare were constantly in her thought. Younger members of the faculty could count on her for a warm welcome and a continuing interest. Many students found in her a confidant and comforter. For the children, her home was a play center and a proving ground where they were always welcome. The children of our community are among those who feel her loss most poignantly. She was a sincere friend who gave of herself wholeheartedly. "The law of kindness was on her tongue."

Florence B. Lovell

John R. Miller

Charles G. McCormick

XII - 58