

You should have it this good, too, sometime; this I wish you from my heart,

With fond greetings, yours,

Elsa E.

[June 1935]

Here it is where one dives under
Where one naught but sweats and smokes
Anglosaxons proudly reign here
Burgeoning fruits drop in your mouth

Warmest greetings from your

A. E.

It's even nicer here than in your Kaempfen!

Most cordially yours,

Margot.

Many kind regards,

H. D.

I already look like a native.

With many kind regards,

Yours,

D. Marianoff
