Biographical Note

Elizabeth Bishop (8 February 1911 - 6 October 1979) was a Pulitzer-Prize winning poet, Consultant in Poetry to the Library of Congress, and winner of the National Book Award. She was born in Worcester, Massachusetts in 1911 but after her father's death and mother's hospitalization was raised by other relatives, and her fondest childhood memories were of Nova Scotia and Cape Cod. In 1934 Bishop graduated from Vassar College. In addition to working on the school newspaper, The Vassar Miscellany, Bishop founded a literary magazine, Con Spirito, with fellow students Mary McCarthy, Eleanor Clark, and Muriel Rukeyser. Following graduation, Bishop spent several years traveling. She stayed in New York, as well as various cities in Europe and North Africa, but she finally found a home in Key West, Florida, where she made several influential friends and found inspiration for many of her most significant poems. When World War II turned Key West into a military command center, Bishop packed her suitcase again. After brief periods in Washington, an artists' colony in upstate New York and a return to New York City, Bishop set out on what was supposed to be a voyage around the world by ship. But in Rio de Janeiro, the first port, she had an allergic reaction to the fruit of a cashew and was nursed back to health by Maria Carlota de Macedo Soares. She and "Lota" fell in love and Bishop made Brazil her home for the next 17 years. She returned to the States only when in the mid 1960s it became financially necessary. She accepted teaching positions at the University of Washington, then Harvard, followed seven years later by New York University, and just prior to her death, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Scope and Content Note

The Elizabeth Bishop Papers consist of correspondence, personal papers, working papers, notebooks, diaries, and memorabilia as well as a substantial amount of material by and about her friends and colleagues. Among the collection are over 3,500 pages of drafts of poems and prose, over 200 letters from Marianne Moore written between 1935 and 1969 discussing their work and mutual friends; and over 200 letters from Robert Lowell written between 1947 and 1976 discussing his work and that of Bishop's and her influence on his work, as well as the work of other writers including Ezra Pound, William Carlos Williams, W.H. Auden, Sylvia Plath, Flannery O'Connor, and Mary McCarthy.

Other correspondents include: Leonie Adams, John Ashbery, John Berryman, Harold Bloom, Robert Bly, Louise Bogan, John Malcolm Brinnin, Seamus Heaney, Anthony Hecht, Randall Jarrell, Archibald MacLeish, James Merrill, Henry Moore, Howard Moss, Octavio Paz, Katherine Anne Porter, Muriel Rukeyser, Anne Sexton, Mark Strand, May Swenson, Allen Tate, Dylan Thomas, Alice B. Toklas, John Updike, Eudora Welty, and Edmund Wilson.

The collection also contains letters from Elizabeth Bishop to James Merrill, Pearl Kazin Bell, Loren MacIver and Lloyd Frankenberg, Anny Baumann, and other friends and relatives. Of particular note are letters to and from Maria Carlota "Lota" de Macedo Soares.

The Elizabeth Bishop Papers also include the only extant typescript of her 1939 poem, "Pleasure Seas," photographs, slides, watercolors by Elizabeth Bishop, diplomas, academic hoods, citations, and her Brazilian oil lamp.

Separated Materials

- Separated Material: 5 boxes of galleys and other material related to work published after Bishop's death were moved to the Elizabeth Bishop Estate and Posthumous Events Collection in 2012. This does not include Bishop's original drafts, but rather the work done by Alice and Bishop's editors after Bishop's death. The boxes included were 50-51 (The Collected Prose) and 61-63 (The Complete Poems). One additional typescript was also moved: "A Trip to Vigia."
- Separated Material: Some material relating to celebrations of Bishop and her work were moved to the Elizabeth Bishop Estate and Posthumous Events Collection in April 2012.
- Separated Material: The card index to Bishop's library was removed from Box 111 and placed in the card catalog in the Archives and Special Collections office.
